BOARD CHANGE

Mrs. Robert B. Congdon has resigned as president. Filling out her term to the 1988 annual meeting is Mrs. R. Grice Kennelly who was the first vice president.

IN MEMORIAM

In December of 1986, General John Winston passed away. General Winston was the husband of past president of the Norwich and Norfolk Terrier Club, Anne Winston. A U.S. Marine flyer, with his wife he loyally attended shows and functions of the Club from the time she joined in 1955. Senior members of the club will remember General Winston for his air of quiet authority and his gracious manners.

FALL MATCH SHOW

The Norwich and Norfolk Terrier Club Match Show will be held on Saturday, September 19, 1987 at 10:00 AM on Helen Brann's property at Curtis Road, Bridgewater, Connecticut. Mrs. Peter J. Green will judge both breeds and Ms. Margaret English will judge Obedience. The Co-Chairmen of the Match Show will be Dana and Michael Mathiesen. The Match Show Secretary will be Ms. Betty Taft and her assistant will be Reggie Higgins. Afterwards there will be an open house, cocktail and dinner party for the Club at Helen Brann's house.

On Sunday, September 20th, Miss Helen Brann will again host the Norwich and Norfolk Terrier Education Day at her home. Starting at 10 A.M. the open classroom fun day will feature a costume class as well as more serious matters such as grooming and handling classes and a go-to-ground demonstration. For further information, please contact the chairman, Barbara Miller at 516-626-3544.

A HELPFUL MEMORIAL

Starting with the Winter 1988 issue The Norwich and Norfolk News will have a memorial column for those members recently deceased. Contributions made for the memorials will be assigned to the Norwich and Norfolk Rescue Fund specifically. The deceased member's name will be listed and the names for those contributing in that name will be listed underneath.

Subscribers and members are invited to contribute to the same fund in memory of their beloved pets who have recently passed away. Their names will be listed under a separate column. Please make checks payable to the Norwich and Norfolk Terrier Rescue Fund. Deadlines for the News are 1 May and 1 December.

DOG FOOD FOR THOUGHT

It was recently announced by the Kal Kan dog food manufacturers that the Kal Kan Pedigree Award will be awarded to those dogs who have defeated more of their breed and/or variety than any other during the calendar year at sanctioned AKC all-breed and specialty championship shows. The first annual awards will be presented at the International Kennel Club of Chicago show in early 1988. According to the press release, each time a dog is awarded the prestigious gold and purple ribbon, he is another step closer to winning the Kal Kan Pedigree Award for his breed. A response to this announcement, made by Mrs. R. Grice Kennelly, president of the NNTC, follows:

The KAL KAN proposal puts too much emphasis on multiple show awards for the good of the breed. Of course we want to have good representatives of our two breeds winning at shows but what about a good dog who makes his fifteen points and becomes a champion and then, because his owner is not inclined or financially able to follow the show circuit, is not seen again except as the sire of good typey pups? Perhaps this dog is of more value to the breed and more deserving of a "Pedigree Award" than the professionally handled star who sweeps about the country amassing more and more of those "prestigious gold and purple ribbons."

Then, also, there may be a kennel owner who obtains the "gold and purple" by entering a number of kennel mates so that the kennel "star" will surely receive enough points to become a champion, and could keep repeating this scenario with a specimen that could not stand up to more varied competition.

What are the accumulated ribbons really worth?

The "Pedigree Award" should go to a dog or bitch whose progeny become champions worthy of the breed. There is the real proof of a champion! A prospective breeder should not be dazzled by the "super hero" who amasses many wins. Rather, the serious breeder should look carefully at such progeny of the winner as may be visible and should consider faults which might be passed along with the glamour.

NORWICH AND NORFOLK RESCUE AND PROTECTION COMMITTEE

As you may remember, our membership was alerted to an ad running in the Boston Globe early last year. It listed the sale of several breeds of Terriers, NORWICH among them. Upon inquiry, the advertiser (owner of a cat and dog boarding kennel in Maine) replied stating, and I quote, "We have one champion-sired girl Norwich that we might sell. She is beautiful - blue/tan, delightful personality, housebroken, all shots, etc. Price is $500. We easily ship anywhere." A comforting thought! Fearful of creating any demand that might escalate further breeding, the decision was to wait and closely observe any future advertising. Early this year, it was brought to our attention the same source had a trio of Norwich for sale. The man had a 5½ yr. old Ch. Norwich male who had been sold to him by a non-member a few years ago, a 3½ yr. old Norwich bitch, acquired from a club member when she was a very young puppy and most probably air shipped judging from the prefix and location of the kennel, and a 1½ yr. old bitch, the result of a breeding between the aforementioned pair. We also learned there had been a litter brother from the same breeding. Responding to the ad, a young couple who had originally contacted one of our member-breeders for a puppy, drove to the boarding kennel and bought the male Norwich puppy on the spot. Ironically, the very same breeder had refused to sell the multi-Terrier breeder - boarding kennel owner one of her bitches a year or so ago.

After a thorough discussion of the trio situation, Marcy Congdon, Sherry Mattison, and I arrived at a decision to have an on the scene evaluation. Sherry being the Northeast Chairman of the N & N Rescue & Protection Committee generously took time out from her weekend to drive up to Maine and check things out. She brought crates and was prepared to purchase the trio if what she observed warranted doing so. During an enthusiastic sales pitch the boarding kennel owner most definitely encouraged her to embark upon a breeding program even though she did not disclose she was an experienced Norwich or Norfolk breeder. Realizing the same encouragement would be passed on to any future buyer, experienced or otherwise, it wasn't difficult to project the problems that would ensue farther down the road. Sherry, therefore, decided to purchase the trio. Though they shared one kennel run, had several nose nicks and the younger bitch was missing the top part of one ear, they appeared to be in pretty good general condition. Since their lives were not in jeopardy, Marcy did not feel it was appropriate to commit club funds for their removal. Their purchase, therefore, was privately funded.

Several weeks later when my vet discovered undissolved gut knots while spaying the older bitch, it was obvious she'd had two C-sections. As there were no puppies for sale from the 2nd breeding, one might conclude the boarding kennel owner's offer to sell "a great breeding pair" was a bit shy of credibility! After the sale had been consummated, the little trio were put in their crates and off they went to Massachusetts to temporarily live with Sherry, Jeff, Joseph, Alie and their family of five Norfolks. Immediately, Sherry tended to getting them cleaned, groomed, and took them to her vet for shots. Oh, how starved they all were for affection and how much they enjoyed the warmth and attention of the entire Mattison family. My, were the phones ever active trying to find each one a loving, caring home. The younger bitch was the first to leave. Sherry placed her on a trial basis with a lovely lady in New Jersey whose daughter-in-law was in Mass. at the time and drove the little bitch down to her new mistress. A little Norwich sister awaited her arrival. She'd been acquired from a member-breeder several months ago. Latest news—they get on just beautifully together and we all know that isn't always the case with two the same sex. During the departures, Sherry and Jeff had such mixed emotions, not to mention the big salty tears of Ali and Joseph as one by one, each of the trio left. The older bitch came to our house, was spayed by our vet and after she recuperated from her surgery, I placed her with the mayor of a North Carolina city and his wife. She's now living the "good life." I have visited her twice and it's obvious she enjoys being spoiled rotten and has managed to weasel herself into a spot on the bed at night sleeping between the two of them.

A truly wonderful lady from South Carolina, whom I had previously referred to another member-breeder, now has one of her spayed bitches as well as a nine-year-old Norwich bitch. After much consideration, she decided to drive to Chapel Hill to see if the little 5½ yr. old guy would blend harmoniously with her two little Norwich gals. I was aware she'd recently lost her beloved male Norwich shortly after his 16th birthday. The little guy from the trio knew he couldn't fill the special place in the lady's heart which would always belong to her former fella, but he was most willing to try and earn a niche of his own. He was feeling tip-top after his neutering surgery and ready to venture forth hoping all would work out well with his new mistress and new Norwich sisters. Well, did it ever—his mistress reports the gals just love him and they all enjoy romping together in their two-acre fenced-in play area.

As with Sherry and her family, both Dan and I were glad and sad and very weepy when each of the little ones left. We are all aware all N & N's thrive on companionship and attention but this little trio literally hungered for each and every minute you had to give them. May I please caution all N & N breeders to exhaust every possibility they can think of when they are screening potential N & N owners for placement of their puppies or adults.

It's comforting to know that each of the boarding-kennel trio is now in a loving caring home he or she deserves. That alone, makes all the effort and time involved with N & N Rescue & Protection worthwhile.—Lee Donaldson, National Chairman

A report from another area:

When the law dictated 3 dogs to a home, one of our member-breeders had to look for a home for two of her dear little Norfolks. Not meeting with much success, Sue Ely, N&N Rescue & Protection Chairman for NJ and PA came to the rescue and found a super home for a great little CH Norfolk bitch. The new owner thanks you, the breeder thanks you, and most of all the little Norfolk bitch.

REGIONAL NEWS

NORWICH & NORFOLK TERRIER CLUB OF GREATER CHICAGO

Sunday, March 8, 1987 was a bright and beautiful day for a dog show. Our third B Match was held at the Norwood Park Fieldhouse in Chicago with Phil Norris as our judge.

A nice turnout of 11 Norwich — puppies and adults — turned out for the event, with an interested group of on-lookers from other Fieldhouse events watching these cute little critters.

BEST PUPPY IN MATCH went to Bobbi & Bud Volke's homebred black and tan bitch, JOY-O-BITS OF TOAST, sired by Skyscots Devil May Care, out of Pomirish Toasted Crisp O'Joy-O.

BEST ADULT IN MATCH went to Cindy Chrisos' homebred bitch, SNUGGERS GUESS WHO, sired by Ch. Skyscots Sandpiper, out of Honey Tree's Cinnamon Bear.

Plans are underway for our 4th B Match, to be held Saturday, June 13, at Lake County Fairgrounds in Grayslake, IL - the same day & show site as the Gray's Lake Terrier Association (although held separately in another building on the fairgrounds). The GLTA consists of thirteen terrier clubs, all recognized by the AKC. More on this in the next issue.

MIDDLE KINGDOM ALLIANCE OF NORWICH AND NORFOLK TERRIERS

Sunday, May 17, 1987, found more than sixty-five Norwich and Norfolk fanciers gathered at Bundo's Kennel in Sebastopol, California for the second annual Spring Fun Match of the Middle Kingdom Alliance of Norwich and Norfolk Terriers. After a chilly start (sunny California?) the sun broke through and the day proved as beautiful as the setting.

After an obedience demonstration by Mrs. Eleanor Graff and her Norwich dog, Shonleh's Happy of Cornwall CDX, Mrs. Anne Katona judged the classes of both breeds. From an entry of 13 Norwich puppies (6-7) Mrs. Katona found her Best Puppy in the 2-4 month class in Firethorne's Toby Jug, (D), bred and owned by John Thomas. Best Opposite, also from the 2-4 month class, was Sundowner's Golden Girl, bred and owned by Neil Hamilton. The judge was so taken with her Best Opposite puppy that she's considering buying her!

From an entry of ten Norwich adults (3-7) Mrs. Katona chose Tontine's Effie Watson bred and owned by Mrs. Mary Lou Perry, as her Best Adult and Thrumpton's Lord Hazel (D), owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Avery, as her Best Opposite.

Moving to the Norfolk entry of six puppies (3-3) Mrs. Katona found her Best Puppy in the 6-9 month class in Silverstone's Dastardly Dan (D), bred and owned by David Cook and William Woodard and awarded Best Opposite to Wonderwood Megabyte, a five-month-old bitch bred by Jessica Jurich James and Linda Murphy and owned by Mr. and Mrs. George Eimil.

From an entry of three Norfolk adults (0-3) Mrs. Katona selected Yarrow's Jasmine, bred by Beth Swiegart, as Best Adult. Owned by Ms. Franzi Corman, Jasmine had traveled from Oregon to attend the day's activities.

Following the classes a parade of 28 champions was the next order of business and champions as young as one-year-old and as old as 11 each had his or her moment of glory in the ring. Traveling from Farmingdale, N.Y., Ms. Ellen Shannon was awarded the prize for having traveled the farthest distance to attend the match. It was well worth the trip as she watched her Norwich dog, CH Yarrow's Merry Monarch, be led into the ring during the parade of champions and be acknowledged as the sire of the day's Best Norwich Puppy.

As was the case at last year's match, a highlight of the afternoon was the Terrier Race and likewise as at last year's match the winner was a Wonderwood Norfolk — from the puppy class no less! Wonderwood Megabyte outfoxed the other semifinalist (yet ANOTHER Wonderwood Norfolk — Turbo Plus who had beaten her to the finish line but stopped just short of victory and stood there glaring at the lure and barking furiously. "Don't be ridiculous," thought Meg, "I'll just run under your legs, through that opening and MY owners will take home that magnificent picnic basket (the prize for winning the race)." She did and they did and that was that.

This was quite clearly an inherited talent as the previous year's race winner was CH. Wonderwood Microchip, Meg's dam. Meg was seen batting her eyelashes at Turbo and saying, "we could make beautiful — and very fast — babies together. You teach them technique. I'll teach them strategy."

Norwich and Norfolk lovers had traveled from New York, Delaware, Canada, Texas, Southern California and all other the San Francisco Bay Area to participate in a fun-filled day which we have planned to be an annual event and at which we hope to see some of you in the coming years. For information concerning membership and/or upcoming events please contact the secretary.—John Thomas, Secretary, M.K.A. of N.N.T., 2135 Vineyard Road, Novato, CA 94947.

DO WE HAVE A PROBLEM?

During the past few years I have more frequently observed labored breathing in Norwich Terriers. Almost two years ago I lost a five-year-old bitch which had developed labored breathing prior to her death. The loss increased both my concern and my curiosity and prompted a letter to the Editor of the English Norwich Terrier News Letter with the hope that I could secure more information from their club members, who would be familiar with the dogs which are behind many of our breeding programs. Unfortunately, I received no responses to the letter.

As a result of an autopsy conducted upon the bitch my veterinarian concluded that a stenotic trachia was the cause of death. A normal trachia remains open and flexible due to cartilaginous rings, which perform the same function as the wires which are contained in the hose of a vacuum cleaner. If these rings are incompletely formed, rapid breathing will cause the trachea to collapse, preventing the intake of air into the lungs. The condition will produce a deterioration of the lungs, increase the strain on the heart and may result in death due to suffocation.

It has not yet been conclusively determined that this condition is genetically transmitted, but most studies suspect that it is. The frequency of the occurrence of this condition in any breed is difficult to determine due to the inadequacy of accurate records. Many times the sudden death of a young dog is attributed to a heart attack. Further investigation has often disclosed that a stenotic trachia was the true cause of death. A non-fatal episode may also resemble a seizure and be misdiagnosed as epilepsy.

Other abnormalities can also affect breathing, and it may well be that the affected dogs do not share a common problem. We may each have an explanation for the inability of certain Norwich to breath properly.

Preliminary studies of the pedigrees of affected Norwich done by me indicate a patter of common ancestors. Certainly this is not unusual in a breed such as ours with a limited gene pool, and it would be foolhardy to reach any conclusion based upon limited observations by an untrained person.

An open exchange of information by Club members would produce a data base which could be evaluated by someone trained in the areas of veterinary medicine and genetics. If the evaluation determined that a problem does exist and if the cause or causes could be identified, the identification of potential carriers would be of invaluable assistance in planning a breeding program aimed at minimizing, and eventually eliminating, this problem.—Charles J. Kaleta, Jr.

FILARABITS PLUS

A friend of mine was at a Scottie meeting in Va. when she heard someone mention a Scottie breeder that had several dogs die and others sick due to giving the dogs Filarabits Plus. When I talked to my vet he wanted more information. I got the breeders name, address and telephone number. I called and talked to the wife. They had been giving the dogs Filarabits Plus for about a year. About 10 months ago they started having the dogs get blood in the urine, blood in the stool and diarrhea. They took the dogs to their vet who could not come up with anything concrete to pin the problem on. He would treat the dogs for cystitis and pancreatitis and they would seem to get better but it would always come back. Then they started having the older dogs die. The vet did an autopsy and found distended liver. Up to this time they had a track record of healthy dogs which lived long lives. The vet did some checking and found the only thing that had changed in the dogs lives was the introduction of Filarabits Plus instead of straight Filarabits. The vet contacted Norden and their reaction was "this was just the situation they had been waiting for." Norden flew a team in to the kennel and did blood tests on all the dogs. So far I have not heard what if anything Norden came up with. When I talked to the wife they had lost 4 dogs the youngest 8 years old. The vet sent liver samples of the latest dog that died to the state lab in Tenn. They had all the Scotties down with various degrees of liver problems. All the dogs are on special diets now whereas before they ate Wayne Kibble. Also they have taken the dogs off all Filarabits and are having the vet run blood tests weekly to see if the liver counts will come down. Norden is getting copies of the blood tests the vet runs and the vet is getting results from the blood tests that Norden ran on the dogs. In the ones that he had checked the counts that Norden was getting were higher than the ones he got on his tests. I gave this information to my vet and switched my crew back to straight Filarabits. I also had a blood test done on all mine and they were well within range on all the liver functions. I had only had them on the Filarabits Plus 6 weeks to 2 months. It seems Norden did send a warning to vets that there was a small chance in dogs over 7 years developing liver problems when given Filarabits Plus. If I find out anything else I will let you know.—Barbara Runquist

SPERM PRODUCTION STUDY

Laurel Tofflemire and Charlotte Ansbro Wheeler are puzzled as to why some male dogs suddenly stop sperm production, sometimes as young as seven and nine years old. They are compiling a study by sending out questionnaires to interested breeders. This information will then be turned over to Dr. Cain at the Veterinary Teaching Hospital at the University of California at Davis. The questionnaire, a simple one-page affair, is interested in such things as foods, flea remedies, hormone and thyroid levels and drug therapy. If you would be interested in cooperating with the study, write to: Laurel Tofflemire and Charlotte Ansbro Wheeler, 130 South Wall Street, Coos Bay, Oregon 97420.

ENVIRONMENTAL POLLUTION IMPACT ON OUR DOGS?

A Norwich who lived beside a very busy highway, whose owner had just put on a new deck using pressure-treated lumber, and whose neighbors were about to go to court on an air pollution case against an industrial concern for emissions . . . this little dog, who to all outward signs lived in a nice house in a nice neighborhood, had seizures starting shortly after moving to the location described, and her vet could find no reasons except "mild epilepsy." She was returned to me in August 1986 via my usual lifetime money-back guarantee because of the death of her owner, and in the clear air of The Pine Barrens she has had no episodes whatsoever, her skin itches have vanished, her weight is back to normal, her "slight thyroid condition" had disappeared and altogether she is a healthy little dog. In addition, while living in the polluted environment, Sandy was bred twice to two proven studs (Hannikam's Sweet William and "Grif" of the same household) and never "caught." One year after the last "miss" she free-whelped five lively puppies.

Are our dogs becoming modern-day miners' canaries?—Marcella Congdon

WORKING TERRIERS

IS THIS WHAT A WORKING TERRIER IS?

We took a recent trip to Michigan, and I delighted in anticipation for the dogs. There would be different hunting areas again - not the same old three acres they've been pretty much "confined to" since we bought this house. And, of course, there would be substantially more land to cover than the dogs were used to. Because I am still very cautious of conditions here in Tennessee, (poisonous snakes, less open area and more roads, and hard, rocky soil) I was anxious to grant the dogs freedom to run and hunt where I was familiar with the terrain.

The dogs got a couple chipmunks and harrassed a few more. They worked a new woodchuck hole one night until it was so dark we had to quit, and begrudging left alone the chucks older den, as I insisted, because it was built under the concrete slab wall of a pre-tornado barn. Ami and Gambler trailed a fox (noses to ground at breakneck speed) to the far edge of a field, until called back because of "no trespassing" signs in the next field. At my sister's they chased frogs, swam in the pond and alerted to the chirps of squirrels in the far off woods. Three working titles and countless stories, like those above, have proven my dogs hunt. But I was disappointed at the end of the visit. I had hoped for a good hunt, with all the details, to report in this column. Bad timing and hectic schedule proved a downfall.

There was, however, a story beneath the surface. It was more a tale of what didn't happen, than what did.

Steve and I arrived at my parents in the middle of the night, rousing Dad's Australian Cattle Dog-English Shepherd cross. Suzy had never met any of the dogs before, and was not at all excited about 4 squirming, milling little dogs moving in. They greeted her like a long-lost friend; she growled and snapped. They backed off, then quietly tried to make friends again. Within minutes, all were romping together - a tell-tale sign of the week to come. Suzy performed her chores when needed, but "off-duty" accompanied the dogs on hunts as if she had grown up doing so. No squabbling, no fights, no animosity. Were these true terriers?

One evening, my mother, two sisters, and their children decided to accompany me while I walked the dogs to the end of the road and back. Being on the road, of course, necessitated the use of leashes, even though the road is little used. And, of course, seeing the leashes brought cries of excitement from my nieces, two and four. The two-year-old took Tinker; their paces were perfectly matched. The four-year-old wanted "the black one! the black one!" I bit my tongue, and figured that she would quickly learn how much Troubell she really had chosen. My only instructions were "Don't let him into the weeds," as I envisioned the rambunctious, but small child being pulled headlong through poison ivy and brush. Troubells is, of course, our most, ah, let's say, "determined" hunter. He, Ami, and Gambler together can nearly pull me off my feet, chasing squirrels down the roads. I handed the leash to her, and off we went. But Troubells surprised me! Gentle tugs from Katie kept him out of the weeds, and his pace was considerably slower than normal. Was this really Troubells - my Troubells? Later she wanted to try the other dogs - and again, magical transformations occurred. Never once was either child knocked down, pulled over, or dragged into the weeds, even though the dogs were surrounded by sights, sounds, and scents that would normally have created a frenzy. Were these my hunting terriers?

On Sunday we had a barbecue at my sister's. Upon arrival the dogs were greeted by an Old English Sheepdog-cross who has a history of being less than friendly. There was a minor scuffle, instigated by the OES, but things settled quickly. The dogs investigated here and there, and then took a quick swim in the pond. Soon they discovered an old lumber pile, the home of a snake. They worked the pile alternately with taking dips in the pond, for about an hour. Soon the work picked up, and Ami started barking excitedly. From out of nowhere charged the OES. She grabbed Ami, picked her up and shook her, before she could be stopped. We all collectively, inhaled, waiting for the inevitable huge dog fight. Several of us screamed and rushed, and the OES dropped Ami, who looked at me as if to say, "What happened?" There was no fighting back, only intense concern over Ami's puncture wound. The OES was banished to the basement, and the rest of the afternoon was, comparatively, uneventful. Were these really bold and fearless terriers?

In each of these three incidents, the dogs adjusted to fit the situation. While they've never met a wild animal they've backed down from on their own, they are able to shift gears and respond in an appropriate manner. I don't believe, however, that this is a special trait or behavior of my dogs - I believe it is in the nature of the breed. A stable temperament, and an ability to act, not just react, to any situation is necessary to a good working/pack terrier. Fortunately, it is the rule, not the exception, in our small dogs. Sometimes what doesn't happen is just as important as what does.

For those of you who read this column only for the funny story, here it is: Recently while I was working outside, the dogs began barking and jumping at the edge of the woods. I knew instantly they had found a snake, so I grabbed a shovel and rushed to see. Being the eternal optimist, I wondered how many of the dogs had been bitten and how badly. A swift blow to the snake finished it, but the dogs kept grabbing and shaking it, so I couldn't see it well - only that it had a thin neck and a blunt tail. The dogs barked wildly as I picked it up with the shovel and headed toward the house, wishing there were someone there to help me identify it. Just then a tiny voice came from an even tinier man who had come to read the meter, but was hesitant to enter our fenced yard because of loud barking. I assured him the dogs were friendly, so he entered but kept a wary eye on the dogs - until he saw the snake! I thought I would need to put my first aid training to the test! The snake turned out to be only a harmless garter snake, but he wasn't wasted. In a spark of inspiration, I put the snake in the mailbox. The pesky starling, who had been determined for over a week to nest in our mailbox, never came back!—Linda M. Bell

CERTIFICATE OF GAMENESS

In 1982, the Board voted to award a Club medal to any member-owned Norwich or Norfolk earning an American Working Terrier Association Certificate of Gameness. Due to a mix-up regarding who was to be notified about these awards, only some of those listed have received their awards for this accomplishment.

To my knowledge, this is a complete list of the dogs earning a Club medal for a C.G. Most of the these names were conveyed to me by Linda Bell, our working terrier columnist.

Back awards (Member-owned dogs earning a C.G. between 1982 and 1985)

1983: Ch. Gustylea Fancy Free Flashton U.D., Norwich, owner Sally Culley

1984: Lynhurst's Here's Troubell C.D., Norwich, owners Steve and Linda Bell

1985: Ch. Lynhurst's Ami A Bell, Norwich, owners Steve and Linda Bell

Current Club year (Westminster to Westminster)

1986: Citation's Tinker Bell C.D., Norwich, owners Steve and Linda Bell

Ch. Quatus Penny Plain, Norwich, owner Charles Kaleta, Jr.

Ch. Tylwyth Just Chelsea Am/Can U.D., Norfolk, owner Mary D. Fine

It is noteworthy that of the 6 dogs listed, 4 are breed champions and 4 have obedience titles. It speaks well for our breeds that many of those being show in conformation still retain the instincts for which they were bred.—Mary D. Fine

Confrontation

OBEDIENCE

It is gratifying to report on more Norwich earning advanced degrees. Since our last column, we've had more CDX degrees earned than CD degrees. We did report previously that Patty Fineran's Hedgerow Buster Bear had completed his CDX but now it is confirmed. He was out in Open B at the Virginia Kennel Club Show and scored a 192 which made him High Scoring Terrier in Trial. Bobbie Volke has put the CDX on her Ch. Camelot Hills Lord Dalton with scores of 188, 189 and 183.5 which shows consistency in performance. The third CDX belongs to Shonleh Happy of Cornwell owned by Russell and Eleanor Graff of California. Happy scored a 189.5 at the Santa Clara Dog Training Club Trial in February. Our congratulations to all three of these Norwich and their owners. We hope to see them in the Utility ring in the near future.

We have two new Norwich CD's. The Gazette has confirmed the title for Long Valley Charles Sanford whose third leg was a 189.5 at the Bayshore Companion Dog Club Trial in February. Charlie is owned by Louis and Anna Mae Blum who also show two Royal Rock Norwich in Obedience. The newest CD belongs to Patty Fineran's Yarrow's Hedgerow Twig. Her first leg was a 179.5 at Skyline Kennel Club in January. Patty explained that Twig's ballerina-like antics got her into trouble on the off-lead heeling. Her next two legs were earned on March 28 and 29 at the Richmond Dog Obedience Club trial where she scored 190 and was High Scoring Terrier in Trial. The next day she placed fourth in Novice B and again was High Scoring Terrier in Trial with a 186 at the Dog Obedience Training Club of Lynchburg Trial. She earned a fourth leg at the Virginia Kennel Club Show. Twig also has five points, including one major, toward her Championship, owner handled.

Twelve-year-old Li'l Abner's Billy Bear, CDX, TD passed another tracking test at the Hyattsville Dog Training Club Trial. This active veteran Norwich is owned by Meredith Dwyer.

Unfortunately, there are no new titles for Norfolks for this reporting period. However, we did find a new Norfolk exhibitor at the Trenton Kennel Club Show. Jamie Cvecich from New Jersey showed Thomasina of Cj in Novice A. The little dog didn't qualify but showed lots of promise. We hope to see more of her in the future. Let's have some more of the Norfolk fanciers get involved in obedience.—Frances H. Wilmeth, 294 Aquetong Road, New Hope, PA 18938.

ANNUAL REPORT - OBEDIENCE

In the 1986 Club award year - from Westminster to Westminster - 15 Norwich and 1 Norfolk received qualifying scores in obedience (non-qualifying attempts are not published in the Gazette).

12 titles were earned during this period, all by Norwich, and 10 of these dogs were member-owned. The breakdown is: 6 C.D.s, 4 C.D.X.s, 1 U.D., and 1 T.D., all going to members' dogs except for 1 C.D. and 1 C.D.X.

Club medals for the C.D. title go to the following dogs, all Norwich:

- 1) Devondale's Master Montague, owners Jennifer Taylor and Diane Norton
- 2) JW's Trapper John, owner Sue Williams
- 3) Laetan's Fredrika, owner Frances Wilmeth
- 4) Laetans Jackson, owner Frances Wilmeth
- 5) Ch. Westwind Triton of Baybreeze, owner P. Schmidt

C.D.X. titles were earned by:

- Ch. Camelot Hills Lord Dalton, owner B. Volke
- Ch. Gustylea's Carter Chipson, owner Gustav Temmel
- Wakerobin Brewster, owner Pat Whittle

A U.D. was earned by Ch. Dastropen Celestial Sprout owned by Sally Culley.

The Norwich and Norfolk Terrier Club does not give Club awards for the higher obedience titles.

The Norwich winner of the River Bend trophy is JW's Trapper John C.D. owned by Sue Williams, with 20 points.*

The Neversink trophy for T.D. title goes to Li'l Abner's Billy Bear owned by Meredith Dwyer.

For Norwich this was a very successful year, much less so for Norfolks whose participation in obedience seems to be dwindling to almost nothing.

*Point Scale:

Score	Points	Score	Points
200	8	185-189.5	4
198-199.5	7	180-184.5	3
195-197.5	6	175-179.5	2
190-194.5	5	170-174.5	1

SHOW FRONT

THE JOHN PAUL JONES TROPHY

"Who is John Paul Jones?" I remember wondering several years ago as the NNTC trophy chairman presented the shiny mint julep cup to the Norwich with the most championship points from the Bred-by-Exhibitor class. As any school child knows, John Paul Jones was the brash sailor of America's Revolutionary era, famed for his "I have not yet begun to fight" retort to the British naval captain. But why, I puzzled from my vantage point as a naive, new Club member, would the NNTC name a trophy after an 18th-century American naval hero?

The question went unanswered until last fall when, as newly-appointed NNTC trophy co-chair, I began exploring the history of Norwich and Norfolk Terriers in America. Looking through the 1974 Norwich Terrier Pedigree Book, I spotted by first clue - a photo (p.2) of an impish-looking prick ear named "Ch. John Paul Jones of Groton." Further reading in Norwich Terriers USA, 1936-1966, plus phone conversations with Joan Read and Mrs. Theodora A. Randolph, confirmed the identity of a "John Paul Jones" of Norwich fame.

Whelped in 1943, "John Paul Jones" was bred by Mrs. Robert Winthrop whose kennel prefix, "Groton," was named after her Long Island racing stable. Mrs. Winthrop (now Mrs. Randolph of the well-known "Oakley" Norwich in Upperville, Virginia) sold him as a young puppy to Alden Blodget and his actress-writer wife, Cornelia Otis Skinner, of New York City. Alden Blodget was a member of the official Norwich Terrier Club (NTC), re-organized in 1947 after World War II. During his term as NTC President from 1955 to 1960, he conducted Club meetings in his gracious New York home and in the Madison Square Garden Club.

John Paul Jones was a grandson of Champion Rachel, Mrs. Randolph's foundation bitch imported from the Farndon kennels in England. The first prick-ear champion in America and Best of Breed at Westminster in 1940, Rachel was the granddaughter of two influential English Norwich - Ch. Biffin of Beaufin, the first English drop-ear champion and Ch. Farndon Red Dog, the first English prick-ear champion. John Paul Jones' sire, Ch. Apple Jack, augmented this impressive array of "firsts" by becoming the first American prick-ear male champion and the first Norwich male to win Best of Breed at Westminster (1941).

Blinded in one eye by a youthful encounter with an unknown foe - more likely a prickly briar than the mighty groundhog of legend - John Paul Jones made his showing debut as a middle-aged gentleman of seven years. Undaunted by "scars from fair wear and tear," this one-eyed wheaten dog defeated both prick- and drop-ear competitors to become the first post-World War II American-bred

and Cornelia Otis Skinner
(Mrs. Alden Blodget)

Norwich champion. Like the John Paul Jones of naval lore, Alden Blodget's little dog was a true "Casanova," enjoying the attentions of many charming ladies. A dominant sire of his day, he produced both prick- and drop-ear champions, but his influence was greatest on American prick-ears.

Combining the lifestyles of a cosmopolitan New Yorker and a country squire, a successful show dog and a fearless hunter, John Paul Jones lived to the happy, old age of eighteen. In tribute to his long-time companion, Alden Blodget presented to the NTC in 1960 the John Paul Jones Trophy for the prick-ear adult winning the most points during the show year. From 1960 through 1964, five different prick-ears from Mrs. Howe Low's famed Upland Spring kennel claimed the trophy; but since then, no Norwich breeder has so dominated.

By 1973 - and perhaps sooner - the raison d'être of the John Paul Jones trophy had shifted from an annual award for Best Prick-Ear Adult to an annual award for the prick ear winning the most points from the Bred-by-Exhibitor (BBX) class. Just when and why this change occurred, I have not yet been able to discover. In 1976, the NTC Board of Governors adopted the present-day rules governing the John Paul Jones and other annual Club cups. Based on the Club trophy year running from the day after Westminster through the following Westminster show, the John Paul Jones award is now presented to the member-owned Norwich winning the most championship points from the BBX class. As professional handlers are ever more a part of today's Norwich show scene, this annual NNTC award for an owner-handled homebred becomes an increasingly meaningful accomplishment. The John Paul Jones trophy is a lasting memorial to a plucky little one-eyed dog who, despite visible scars, was able to best his more "glamorous" competitors.—Alison Freehling

JUBILEE RECORDS

Just to keep our records straight, there were winners of the Ch. LONG WAYS FAIRWOOD MEMORIAL TROPHY in 1986 as well as the KINSPRIT CHALLENGE TROPHY. The AKC has decided that it will not sanction the presentation of trophies with special provisions required such as were on the above trophies. When the Jubilee issue went to press we were not aware of this decision. Through the good offices of Edward Resovsky and Allison Freehling the situation has been resolved. So let the records proclaim that:

NORWICH

The CH. LONGWAYS FAIRWOOD MEMORIAL TROPHY for Best of Winners at the Specialty presented by Mrs. Joan L. Snyder and the KINSPRIT CHALLENGE TROPHY presented by Mrs. R. Grice Kennelly in 1986 went to:

- Ch. High Pines Topaz
- Ch. Chidley Buccaneer of Hunton
- Ch. Varmint's Woody Woodchuck

NORFOLK

The RESOVSKY CHALLENGE BOWL for Best of Winners at the Specialty presented by Edward M. Resovsky and the KINSPRIT CHALLENGE TROPHY presented by Mrs. R. Grice Kennelly in 1986 went to:

- Ch. All Right Magic Lamp
- Ch. Max-Well's Winter Chill
- Ch. Nanfan Sandpiper

Late News Flash — Ch. Rolling Ridge's Prima Donna, owned by Alison and Bill Freehling, won a Group 2 at the Purina Invitational Dog Show on 2 June in St. Louis.

THE NORWICH AND NORFOLK TERRIER CLUB SPECIALTY

Saturday, May 30, 1987, Huntingdon Valley Kennel Club, Ambler, PA.

There is no better endorsement of a judge's decision than to have her choice for Best of Breed place in the group. Imagine then how pleased Mrs. Ruth Corkhill must have felt when her choices for Norwich and Norfolk BOB went Group One and Group Two respectively — and then the Norwich grabbed it all and went BEST IN SHOW! Perhaps in rehearsal for the specialty, CH. RONNELL'S APPLAUSE APPLAUSE won Best of Breed under member judge Gilbert Kahn at the supported entry Buck's County show a few weeks before. The BIS winner was bred by Sue R. Weaver and Norma Apprahamian and is now owned by Sue R. Weaver and Sandra Stemmler. He is by Whiteoaks Ruff-N-Reddie out of Chaos Amy.

The Norfolk Group Two winner is a homebred champion, CH. CHIDLEY DANDELION. He is owned by Barbara Ege and is by Ch. Chidley Mumbo Jumbo out of Ch. Chidley Daphne.

The judges, member John Simm and our English judge, Mrs. Ruth Corkhill of the Redash prefix, had a repeat on last year's specialty's weather. The humidity was extremely high and the temperature reached 93°! The dogs and handlers held up remarkably well, even the puppies in the sweepstakes. Mr. Simm found YARROW'S JASMINE, bred by Beth Sweigart and owned by Franzi Corman, his Norfolk Best in Sweepstakes. She is by Ch. Allright Magic Lamp out of Ch. Yarrow's Ruff and Ready. Best of Opposite Sex to the Sweeps winner was CHIDELY TALISMAN owned and bred by Joan R. Read. He is also a Magic Lamp sired pup and is out of Chidley Pooka. In the Norwich Sweepstakes, Mr. Simm chose Anna Bellenger's homebred DEVONDALE'S MISTRESS MERCY as his Best in Sweepstakes. Mercy is by Ch. Devondale's Master Miles out of Ch. King's Prevention Devondale. Best of Opposite Sex was STONEY MEADOWS ARNOLD, the youngest Norwich puppy shown, coming from the six to nine month old class. He is by Ch. Thrumpton's Lord Mothkin out of Ch. Stoney Meadows Betsy Ross and is owned and bred by Mrs. W. P. Wear and Patricia Whiteside.

Mrs. Read's CHIDLEY TALISMAN repeated his performance for Judge Corkhill to win Winner's Dog (from the Bred by Exhibitor class) in the Norfolk classes. Reserve to him was AB-BEDALE'S ROAD TO VICTORY, owned and bred by Joan Eckert and John W. Wood. He is by Ch. Elve Black Shadow out of Ch. Abbedale's Abbegain Ray. Winner's Bitch and Best of Winner's was SURREY STEM TO STERN bred by Mr. & Mrs. James E. Clark and owned by Dennis M. McCoy. She is by Ch. Greenfield's The Hustler out of Surrey Luff. This bitch also won Best of Opposite Sex to the BOB, Ch. Chidley Dandelion and all this from the nine to twelve month puppy bitch class! Reserve was another Clark bred and Hustler sired pup, SURREY GIG, owned by Del Dahl and Sara P. Dahl. She is out of Surrey Dory.

STONEY MEADOWS ARNOLD appeared in the winner's circle again when he won the Norwich Winner's Dog trophies. Reserve to him was MILLER'S NEUTRON OF JENNIE bred by Dr. Elaine Miller and owned by Siegfried Pikart. This dog is by Ch. Hannikam's Sweet William out of Miller's Miss Jennie Devine. The Winner's Bitch, Best of Winner's and Best of Opposite Sex was SCARLET RUNNER BEAN bred by Michael Mathiesen and owned by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mathiesen. The sire was Ch. Hannikam's Sweet William out of White Star Line Boodles. Reserve was won by the Best in Sweepstakes winner, DEVONDALE'S MISTRESS MERCY. And of course, the winner-take-all Best of Breed was Ch. RONNELL'S APPLAUSE APPLAUSE!

While all the conformation judging was taking place, the American Working Terrier Association trial was taking place on a slope nearby. Several club members entered their dogs, among them Mary Fine, Leslie Anderson and Lindsay Payn. It is reported that two or three qualified for their CG but at press time the only name known for sure was Lindsay Payn's Hunt's End First Edition. Others will be reported in the Winter edition of the NEWS.

At future specialty shows only, it is requested that owners and handlers of winning dogs ask the professional photographer present to send a copy of their dog's photograph to the editor of the NNTNEWS. The address is 310 Tarrytown Drive, Richmond, VA 23229. Amateur photographs will no longer be used.

CHAMPIONS

CH. PICCADILLY GOLLY MISS MOLLY
(Ch. Todwil's Macho Man x Todwil's Piccadilly Pippin)

Breeder/Owner: Elaine and George Besbekis

Molly finished her championship at 10 months from the Bred-by-Exhibitor class, with three majors to her credit. Always owner/handled, Molly is a joy to show and love.

CH. PICCADILLY PENNY FARTHING
(Ch. Todwil's Speed Trap x Ch. Piccadilly Sugar N' Spice)

Breeder/Owner: Elaine and George Besbekis

Penny is a second generation, homebred champion. Always owner/handled, Penny tied for #8 Norwich Bitch in the last half of 1986 under the Knight System.

CH. LONG VALLEY WEAVER HOMESPUN
(Ch. Thrumpton's Lord Mothkin x Ch. Royal Rock Pebble)

Breeder: Georgia Rose

Owner: Susan L. White

Weaver finished quickly on the Tar Heel Circuit taking three majors and WD six days. Under Dr. Harry Smith, Weaver went WD/BOW and Best of Breed over two male specials!

CH. ROLLING RIDGE'S TUFF E. NUFF
(Ch. Redash Tarquin x Ch. Rolling Ridge's Prima Donna)

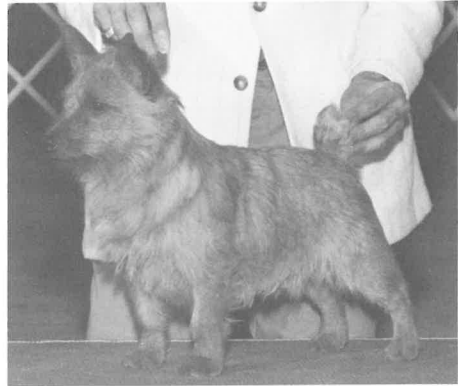

Breeder/Owner: Alison and Bill Freehling

"Tuffy" is our first second-generation homebred champion. Many thanks to Beth Sweigart for showing her so well.

CHAMPIONS

CH. CASTLE-BAR MINUTE MAN
(Ch. Tridwr Mr. Solo x Ch. Royal Rock Redcoat)
Breeder/Owner: Barbara Pierce

"Speedy" finished his championship the hard way by going Best of Breed over two specials and a Group III-under Dr. R.D. Smith-all from the 6-9 puppy class!

COME FLY WITH ME - PART TWO

by Ryland Tupp (alias Cecil)

Having had Windyhill Warren's recent account of his plane trip from LaGuardia airport to Chapel Hill read to me, I felt compelled to relate my in-flight experiences of a couple of years ago. My owners, Alfred and Kathleen Putnam, were going to Europe for a few weeks in the summer of 1984. My human sister Clare was two at the time, and Kathleen's parents, Eleanore and Steven Gordon agreed to babysit for Clare and me at their house. However, we live in Ardmore, Pennsylvania and the Gordons live in Grosse Pointe, Michigan.

Grammy Gordon refused even to consider having me fly out to Gross Pointe in the cargo compartment of a commercial aircraft. Consequently, she persuaded a couple of Papa Gordon's business associates into loaning us their company airplanes - one to pick Clare and me up in Philadelphia and the other to return us home from Detroit. One jet seated eight and the other twelve - but I got to sit on Grammy Gordon's lap the entire trip.

All in all, Clare and I had a fun visit to Grosse Pointe, but I'm glad I had the opportunity to fly "first class" instead of travelling "steerage." It's awfully nice to be loved that much!

YOU CAN GO HOME AGAIN

We have had an interesting year at Red Clay - two of our homebred puppies came back to us when their loving homes had to be closed. First was Digby, a seven-year-old male, who is now living a mile away with our son - we do "baby-sitting" on occasions. Next came Molly, age twelve, and she has joined us and our three old ladies. Both came back as fat as ticks, but have slimmed right down on a diet of a small handful of Fit and Trim and a generous tablespoon of lowfat cottage cheese once a day and one Pet-Tab as a bedtime goodie. Our vet put our original Norwich on this diet years ago and we have had great success with using it for all our chubbies. Molly dropped five pounds in seven weeks on this diet. We have only had one Norwich - now age fourteen and a half - that had a metabolism that allowed her to eat any and everything. We have been astonished by the way these newcomers have fit right into their new homes without missing a beat. It is a tribute to our breed that they have such adaptability.

We now feel as though we are running Canine Eldercare of Charlottesville. Our roster is Bridgette, age fourteen and a half; Molly, age twelve; Cary, age ten; and Pepper, a ten-year-old Labrador. I must say the Norwich only go to the vet for their booster shots and teeth cleaning - they are a hardy little breed. The fourteen-year-old has been getting progressively more deaf this past year, but they all have very healthy vocal chords - especially at meal time. After twenty years in the breed, we give the Norwich an A-plus.—Jeanne Roberts

Helpful hint:

Simple Green - which I buy at the hardware store - is a fabulous cleaner. It will remove even old dog spots from carpet!!

HOW THE NANFAN NORFOLKS SURVIVED THE BLIZZARDS OF '87

Winter came to England in mid-January, and the 'worst winter in living memory' that we had been promised after every hot, dry summer arrived almost unannounced except for a banking of snow clouds over the Cotswolds and a flurry of snow in mid-afternoon. It was the wrong quarter for snow, it should have come from the west and Wales, and with a feeling of apprehension I drove into Tewkesbury to top up the emergency rations and slithered home like a crab with new snow freezing as it fell.

The next morning I opened the stable door in the kitchen and the snow fell in. As the house dogs disappeared into a drift that stretched as far as I could see combining house, garden, and distant fields into a level plain several feet higher than I stood, I saw that it was still snowing. Hours later after I had scooped out a tunnel to the kennels and released the dogs into covered runs, I discovered that one of the house dogs had not returned and I found her at lunch time unharmed but bemused under a drift between the house and the stable. After that the dogs stayed in until I had cleared a yard sized patio alongside the kitchen door. As the days passed it became smaller as fresh snow fell and I had less and less time to keep it clear.

The first day was spent in exercising the dogs in relays in the covered runs which were designed for rain, open-ended and vulnerable to driven snow, in keeping unfrozen water in the water bowls and hot food inside the dogs, and in having to unfreeze every latch on every run with boiling water between each operation. By the following day I had gained experience, and managed better.

On the second night the temperature dropped to -22 (which is unheard of in England, I was after all picking roses in the garden on Christmas Eve!). I brought seven four-month-old puppies into the house from the kennels. As I carried the last two through the back door two robins and a pair of blackbirds followed me in and I didn't have the heart to turn them out. They stayed all night, the robins roosting in the Boston ferns over the refrigerator and the blackbirds on top of the dresser. The house dogs seemed to accept that they should be there. As I went to bed a blizzard started which blew all night. By the following morning the lane had disappeared and I was snowed in, even the telephone was dead, the lines lying across the poles with festoons of ice hanging from them.

I saw no one for a week, although I did shovel my way to the village to collect fresh milk which had been left against a sign post in a pre-blizzard arrangement by someone on a tractor. I needed it too, the puppies had had priority and I was putting tinned semolina pudding into my coffee. As days passed, I slowly dug my way to the garage, and from the garage to the gate, and after a week, helped by dozens of little feet, I had achieved some fair sized dog runs which relieved the frustration of dogs in covered runs who normally run and hunt over twelve acres.

The dogs enjoyed it and I enjoyed it, I baked bread in the Aga and ate exotic food from the deep freeze. A snow plow arrived after a week, after dark, and shovelled quantities of snow from the lane over the front gate, destroying in seconds several days of patient digging and plans to visit the supermarket. Two days later a slow thaw started and within a week only a few wisps of snow hung about in gullies and dogs were wallowing in mud! It says much for this tough little breed that they enjoyed, and flourished in temperatures vastly below the norm in unheated kennels, and sprang from their boxes every morning with happy shouts eager to start on whatever new adventure the day would bring them, and uncomplainingly enjoyed it all.—Joy Taylor,

Berrow near Malvern,
Worcester, England.

NATURE IS CRUEL

Divot

My friend and I and our four dogs, two Labs, one Setter puppy and my little female Norfolk, Divot, were taking our accustomed walk of several miles around "the point" in the middle of which is a large fresh water pond inhabited by many waterfowl, fish turtles and of course, a raccoon or two. It was mid afternoon and the two big dogs flushed an animal from the underbrush. I could not see what it was, but there was much barking and great excitement, and there seemed little chance of calling them off which we tried to do.

The animal feeling cornered, I suppose, started to swim out into the pond. I still couldn't tell what it was. It looked like an otter from behind, just a small wet head moving away. Divot dashed down the bank, through the reeds, and out into the pond paying no heed to my frantic calls. I also started down the bank, with some difficulty as it was thick with catbriar, holly and honeysuckle.

The next moment I saw the struggle. The raccoon, whose face I could then recognize, was holding Divot under, drowning her. The three big dogs were still splashing about barking, but not actually attacking the animal, which is just what my terrier tried to do. Within seconds I too was in the muddy churned up water facing the terrifying looking raccoon whose teeth were bared, trying to grab the other dogs and not seeing Divot. Finally I saw her, floating face down in the water. I scooped her up and tried to pump water out of her for what seemed like hours—but to no avail.

There was not a mark on her. I have since found out from farmer friends and 'coon hunters that the wily raccoon is known to drown even large coon dogs when they are cornered by just pushing their heads under. My vet still thinks my gutsy dog may have had a heart attack though she was only seven years old and in very good shape. Who knows?

BARK AWAY

The art of camouflage is demonstrated by Grace Hogan's King's Prevention Moses. No leaf could be so winsome.

Kerry Smith believes she was the first person to have a Norfolk in Oregon. Now Ch. Wonderwood Turbo Plus has some compatriots, two bitches have arrived and recently Ch. Chidley Magic Marker arrived.

The New York Times for April 1 told about an associate professor of cooking at the New York City Technical College who spins wool from dog hair and makes hats, sweaters and other items from the wool. He says that he made a vest for a man from the hair from his Norfolk Terrier. He says that the man wanted to look like his dog, and the professor believes the effect has been achieved.

There is no intention of starting a "thing" on bears in the NEWS but Susan Ely's story about babysitting the single puppy in the last issue has inspired a subscriber and a member to further endorse the efficacy of teddy bears as comforters of puppies. Mrs. John Richardson sent in the picture of the bear with his paws full in Berryville and the well-dressed bear and Max-Well's Wicked Ways came from Miss Ann Bayer.

KENNEL UPDATE

HUNTS END—NORWICH—My report has nothing to do with points, majors, championships or the breeding of potential champions. It is about terriers doing terrier work. Having grown up on the back of a horse watching hounds do the work for which they were bred, (which is, after all, why we fox hunt—not to go to the breakfast afterwards or the annual club ball, but to see a good pack of hounds work well together) it was a great joy to see my pampered house pets go to ground and flush a ground hog from its den.

Two were very game and did their best to dispatch it on their own while the younger dog watched on in fascination. As it was a warm day early in May and they had already worked long and hard to flush the "hog", human intervention seemed wise and we did-the-critter-in for them. The bitch (who seems more determined than the males even when stalking barn mice) didn't want to give it up and tried to drag it away for herself. She had to be carried home as she wouldn't leave it.

It was frightening having them out of sight in the earth—hearing muffled barks and whines. I would have much preferred to have had an experienced hunting person with me, but my nerves are back to normal now and I look forward to doing it again in experienced company.

These three dogs are King's Prevention breeding—sound, healthy, happy and now, honest-to-goodness go-to-ground WORKING terriers. Thank you Constance Larrabee for trusting me with them.—Lindsay Payn, Moorestown, NJ.

DEVONDALE—NORWICH—My big news is Devon. Three years ago from the puppy class, she got six points toward her Bermuda championship. This March she became the first Norwich Terrier to become a Bermuda champion—one for the record books.

Miles (Devondale's Master Miles) has some new pups—5 for K. P. Tara and Jean Bryant and 6 for Laetan's Sandy and Marcy Congdon. The last issue of Terrier Type has him in an eight-way tie for #3 stud dog in '86—behind Chidley and Todwil—not bad when he wasn't yet two!

At the Delaware Water Gap Show, Devon and Mercy made the brace class a circus act. Mercy started out by holding Devon's muzzle, then she leaped over her. Devon, wanting the inside, jumped back. Of course we were the only Norwich brace and went on to the Group where both decided to piddle at the same time. Thanks to a well-behaved Border brace, we got to go home.—Anna Bellenger, Wilimington, DE.

Homespun Puppies

HOMESPUN—NORWICH—Spring is here for Homespun Norwich. Digging, investigating and smelling all the new blooms.

Chuck and I found it very exciting to be with Weaver while he made his debut with Peter Green on the Tar Heel Circuit. What a good feeling to be there every day to take part in his wins. The Championship would not have the same meaning to us if we had not been there to see it happen.

Bobbin and Cutie were so excited when we brought our newest Champion home. Gone only seven days, it was so obvious by all the licks and kisses that he was missed.—Susan L. White, Richmond, Virginia.

MAX-WELL—NORFOLK—English Champion, Jaeva Matti Brown, has come to our shores to join his cousin, Ch. Nanfan Crunch. "Matti" racked up quite an impressive record with his breeder/owner Martin Phillips, before crossing the 'pond.' "Matti" won Best of Breed at Crufts three years in a row. In 1985, at Crufts, he took the Reserve slot in the Terrier Group. No doubt about it, he certainly was the #1 Norfolk in Great Britain. Upon his arrival, he was bred to Ch. Wonderwood Watch Her Strut. I would like to wish "Strut" and her owners, Bill and David, lots of good fortune with the coming pups. "Matti" is now settled down with handler, Susan DePew, outside of Chicago. Watch for him in the show ring.

To those of you who were thoughtful to send notes, or who telephoned congratulations, with reference to the placement of Ch. Nanfan Crunch at Westminster, we thank you.

We made many new Norfolk friends this past winter. Grandchildren of "Crunch" are now in loving homes with their new owners. Ann Bayer, a writer for Life magazine, is enjoying every second of her puppy bitch out of Ch. Max-Well's Winter Chill by Ch. Max-Well's Lone Ranger. NNTC breeders, Carol and Don Schroeder, have plans to be the co-owners of litter sister, Max-Well's Wicked Woman. December 31, 1986, just prior to serving dinner to friends, I whelped a litter of three sired by Ch. Max-Well's Winter Sport and out of Max-Well's April First. A darling bitch, Max-Well's New Years Eve is staying with us. Airdale breeder and Norfolk owner, Mareth Kipp co-owns litter brother Father Time with Sue and myself. Mareth is having lots of fun with "Pops" and we know we will enjoy every minute of their experiences in the show ring. Bedford Pace owns the third puppy. According to Bedford, the puppy is quite clever and just beautiful.

Have a pleasant summer.—Barbara Miller & Suzann Bobley, Roslyn, NY.

SKYSCOT—NORWICH—There has been a lot of activity at SkyScot since the last issue of the News. Webster became a Group-winner, and that was exciting to say the very least, but we nearly became unglued when we received news that Bevmor FINALLY won his last two points and became a Champion of Record (in spite of himself, I must add!). A worthy specimen and an outstanding sire, Bevmore never made any bones about it—dog shows simply were not his bag. A promised him that, once finished, he would never have to suffer through another. I had him sent home from Texas in January in order to breed him to Amber, the repeat of a breeding which previously produced four outstanding puppies, among them Edie Steging's Ch. SkyScot's Sandpiper. The repeat produced only one puppy, a very cute black and tan bitch, whom I am considering naming SkyScot's Snowdrop as the little Snowdrops were all in blossom at the time she came into the world.

Early in April, Webster's daughter (x SkyScot's Victoriana), Tabby, won first place in the hand-stripping class at the International Grooming Contest, with a little help from her good friend, professional groomer Marie Guilliford of Maynard, Mass. Tabby is back home now, and looking forward to the Norwich Specialty.

Angel's and Webster's three puppies have picked up a total of 19 points (including a major) between them, all from the puppy classes. Bridger, who belongs to Monna Travis, lives in Washington State. Gracie, who belongs to Peggy Schmidt, lives in Texas. And little Clara lives here with us at SkyScot.

Last, but not least by any means, we are proud of our three Top-Tenners for 1986: Ch. SkyScot's Prototype in the West, Ch. SkyScot's Sandpiper in the Midwest, and our own Ch. Baybreez Bootlegger here in the East.

See you all at the Specialty.—Bob and Leslie Becker, Middleburgh, NY.

ROLLING RIDGE—NORWICH—The Golden Jubilee year and the early months of 1987 have brought several "firsts" for us. Thanks to Beth Sweigart's skillful handling, our homebred "Ch. Rolling Ridge's Prima Donna", became the first Norwich bitch ever to finish #1 Terrier Type System. Again, thanks to Beth, "Donna's" impish daughter, "Rolling Ridge's Tuff E. Nuff" became our first second-generation homebred champion. Prior to pursuing her "Ch.", "Tuffy" also gave us our first genuine "fluffy," an adorable if somewhat un-Norwichy-looking male puppy, now residing happily near Washington, D.C. We are hoping the "Donna's" other daughter, appropriately named "Rolling Ridge's Big Bertha" will have her first litter this summer. In the interim, I have been showing "Rolling Ridge Ms. Merry Mouse" (CH Half A Bob's Mousetrap x CH Royal Rock Tiddly Winks) who, despite her incompetent handler, has managed to acquire both her majors.—Allison & Bill Freehling, Sparks, MD.
