Three generations of champions at Longways
— painting by PETER BIEGEL 1965
COVER STORY
THE LONGWAYS LEGACY

Mrs. Emory Alexander's first Norwich was Upland Spring Jock, a gift from the successful exhibitor, Mrs. Howe Low. After Harriet Alexander stopped fox hunting in 1956, she established her kennel with two imports: Eng. and Am. Ch. Whinlatter Clipper as founding dam and later Eng. and Am. Ch. Whinlatter Allercombe Hiker. Leaving his legendary line-bred son, Ch. Whinlatter Charade to raise the breed in England from relative obscurity, Hiker, with his strong Farmdon heritage, made a further impact on the breed here. To establish the Longways prefix, Hiker was thoughtfully used by Mrs. Alexander and, in less than a decade, had twelve champion Longways descendants.

Today Mrs. Alexander's Longways legacy continues with her grand daughter and her disciple, Carol Hoyler Jordan. The latter has broadened her interests in obedience to successes in today's show ring under the Norweim banner.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

A personal dedication to Mrs. Emory Alexander, Longways Kennels, who helped me at the beginning of my association with Norwich Terriers. I will always remember how kind and patient she was and how she took time to explain grooming practices, showing techniques, and pedigrees. I'm thankful for her motivation, guidance, and inspiration to always aim to better the breed and enjoy and protect every aspect of the wonderful little dogs.

A special thanks to Pat Leidig (Leidig's Pedigrees) who researched all these pedigrees.

This Norwich Terrier Book of Pedigrees could not have been made without the help of many friends, both canine and human. Many thanks to all of them.

FORWARD

About a hundred years ago the roots of Norwich Terriers took hold in Cambridge, England; where owning a small ratting terrier was a fad among students. Today, though legs are lower, backs shorter, ears smaller, and furnishings more profuse, these same little dogs, formerly known as Jones' are winning top show honors.

The physical changes in appearance have not diminished the breed's appeal as loyal and game companions. Many Norwich enjoy obedience and agility tests, have go-to-ground working titles, are certified Therapy Dogs and racing addicts. Unfortunately, with the changes in physical outline have come changes in physical health. The naturally tough little bolters and ratters of the 1930's were advertised as being "free of Distemper and Canine Hysteria" and "never sick nor sorry". Their Standard called for a 10-14 pound terrier of 10-12 inches at the withers, and described as having "a very hardy constitution"; "honorable scars" were permissible.

Though we cannot turn back the clock, a united effort must be made to eliminate the devils which plague the breed. We must admit to ourselves that there are occasional breeding, breathing, and bleeding problems which cycle in our Norwich world today. Seizures in dogs have existed on both sides of the Atlantic for many years with many names and explanations.

In 1990, the English Norwich Terrier Club formed a committee to investigate health problems. With three clubs, the NNTC in Pa., the NNTCGC in Ill., and the MKA in Ca., to turn to here, it is time to: openly address the issues of health; support research; and communicate openly with fellow breeders.

Official Standard for the NORWICH TERRIER

General Appearance and Characteristics—The Norwich Terrier, spirited and stocky with sensitive prick ears and a slightly foxy expression, is one of the smallest working terriers. This sturdy descendant of ratting companions, eager to dispatch small vermin alone or in a pack, has good bone and substance and an almost weatherproof coat. A hardy hunt terrier—honorable scars from fair wear and tear are acceptable. Adaptable and sporting, they make ideal companions.

Head—The skull is broad and slightly rounded with good width between the ears. The muzzle is wedge shaped and strong. Its length is about one-third less than the measurement from the occiput to the well-defined stop.

Ears—Medium size and erect. Set well apart with pointed tips. Upright when alert.

Eyes—Small, dark and oval shaped with black rims. Placed well apart with a bright and keen expression.

Mouth—A scissor bite. The jaw is clean, strong and tight lipped with large teeth. Nose and lip pigment black.

Forequarters—Neck of medium length, strong and blending into well laid back shoulders—good width of chest, elbows close to ribs, pasterns firm. Short, powerful legs, as straight as is consistent with the digging terrier.

Body—Moderately short. Compact and deep with level topline. Well-sprung ribs and short loins. Distance from the top of the withers to the ground and from the withers to base of tail is approximately equal.

Hindquarters—Broad, strong and muscular with well-turned stifles. Hocks low set and straight when viewed from the rear.

Feet—Round with thick pads. The feet point forward when standing or moving. Nails black.

Tail—Medium docked. The terrier’s working origin requires that the tail be of sufficient length to grasp. Base level with topline; carried erect.

Coat—Hard, wiry and straight, lying close to the body with a definite undercoat. The coat on neck and shoulders forms a protective mane. The hair on head, ears and muzzle, except for slight eyebrows and whiskers, is short and smooth. This breed should be shown with as natural a coat as possible. A minimum of tidying is permissible but shaping should be heavily penalized.

Color—All shades of red, wheaten, black and tan or grizzle. White marks are not desirable.

Gait—The legs moving parallel, extending forward, showing great powers of propulsion. Good rear angulation with a true, yet driving movement. The forelegs move freely with feet and elbows the same distance apart, converging slightly with increased pace. Hind legs follow in the track of the forelegs, flexing well at the stifle and hock. The topline remains level.

Size—One of the smallest of the terriers, the ideal height should not exceed 10 inches at the withers. Weight approximately 12 pounds. It should be in proportion to the individual dog’s structure and balance. Fit working condition is a prime consideration.

Temperament—Gay, fearless, loyal and affectionate.

AGILITY

Agility is an exciting new dog sport recently imported to the U.S. from England. It is best described as an obstacle course for dogs. The sport originated in the early 1970's as a police dog competition designed to appeal to spectators. Its rapid growth in the U.S. is evidence of its appeal to dogs, trainers, and spectators alike.

Agility courses generally consist of about 14 obstacles. Included in the obstacles are tunnels, a raised "dog walk", hurdles, poles to weave in and out of, hoops to jump through, and a seesaw. Dogs run the course individually against a clock. They are off leash, with their handlers running beside them. The height of the obstacles varies with the height of the dog, so toy dogs can participate as well as large dogs.

Agility clubs are springing up around the country to enjoy and promote the sport. Many established dog clubs are adding agility to their activities. The American Kennel Club has expressed interest in making agility one of its own programs and allows agility demonstrations to be held at dog shows.

If you have an opportunity to try agility, don't pass it up. Your dog doesn't have to have much training. The initial training is done on leash. It helps if your dog has had some prior exposure to jumping. Even dogs who are a little frightened at first gain confidence from the experience. The dogs are so pleased with themselves when they master a new obstacle. Your dog will love it!

WORKING TERRIERS
by Kate Kenny

Working Terriers are not for everyone (or every dog), but Norwich are terriers and they can work. The American Working Terrier Assoc. records show that 14 Norwich's have earned certificates of Gameness since 1971.

Beyond the pleasure of more titles to brag about, is the fun of having another way to enjoy a whole new aspect of your dog and his character. I really like knowing that "tiger" believes me when I tell him that there are "get 'ems" in that hole and that I can trust him to tell me if anybody is at home in that hole; "The nose knows". It's great to show the more "traditional breeds what a Norwich can do. (Tiger always makes the Trial judges grin.)

A proposal has gone to the AKC for its consideration in developing Hunting Tests for earth terriers and dachshunds. It seems very likely that Junior Hunter, Senior Hunter and Master Hunter titles may be added to your dogs other honors in the near future. Until such time, please contact:

HOUSEBREAKING

Housebreaking the positive way will rely on rewarding your dog for relieving himself where you want him to and on controlling his environment to help him form good habits. This method of housebreaking is designed to teach your dog to relieve himself only outdoors.

These techniques apply whether you are trying to housebreak a 7 week old puppy or an older dog. In some ways it is more difficult to housebreak an older dog because it is hard to change an established habit of relieving himself indoors, but an older dog has the advantage of having better control than a puppy.

You can housebreak your dog without using punishment at all, which is nicer for both you and your dog and avoids getting your relationship off to a bad start. I believe punishment only tells a dog what you don't want, not what you want. Not only does punishment not tell a dog where you want him to relieve himself, but it sometimes isn't even effective at telling a dog where you don't want him to go. When punished for relieving themselves in the house, some dogs learn not to relieve themselves in their owner's presence, but to wait until they are gone or to hide and relieve themselves in another room.

The most important thing to do when housebreaking your dog is to reward him for doing what you want, relieving himself outside. This reward can take the form of praise, but housebreaking will go faster if you use a food reward in addition to praise. It is simple to do. Every time your dog relieves himself outside, give him a treat and lots of praise. What you want is for your dog to rush to relieve himself when you take him outside, then run to you for his treat.

In order to reward your dog for relieving himself outside, you must always go outside with him, even if you have a fenced yard. Keep the treats right by the door so you can grab some as you go out. Don't let your dog play until the job is done. You want to establish a habit of him relieving himself before you play, go for walks, or go in the car. You can encourage your dog to use a particular area by placing his feces or the paper towels that you have used to clean up his urine there.

If your dog has been punished and will not relieve himself outside when you are there, you will need to be more patient and do some extra things to get your dog to go outside so you can reward him and communicate what it is you want. Patience may mean staying outside with your dog and waiting for an hour until you can finally reward him. Once he understands what you want, he will get faster and faster at relieving himself.

Some dogs that have had a severe reaction to being punished absolutely refuse to relieve themselves outside on a leash. Sometimes they will urinate but not defecate. Dogs have more control over their bowel movements, and often the dog has been caught more frequently in the act of defecating and has been punished for that more often. One easy thing to try is using a Flexi-lead so your dog can get farther away from you. It is also a good tool for teaching a dog to come when called.

Ring Presentation of the Norwich Terrier

— JOHAN OSTROW

I do want my dogs to look as natural as possible. The word “tidy” in our standard is a bit ambiguous, and I prefer to substitute “clean outline” instead.

I can get this outline by judicious raking and picking of the outer long hairs that tend to stand away from the coat. In order to keep my Norwich in a “rolling coat”, I find that a good rake and then light finger plucking of the long stand-up hairs is the only successful method. I use a fine stripping knife only on areas such as head, ears and under the tail. Over the rest of the body, a knife can go too deep, as compared to ones fingers. The rake seems to take out the balance of dead hairs under the top coat, and can be well used to shape your outline without removing top coat.

A lot of the problems of working this type of coat (the “rolling coat”) is due to the slow and uneven rate of growth in this breed. I keep the hair on the back shorter than on the sides, and of course with a view to a level topline, some areas will be thicker and longer than others. We often get an annoying thick tuft of hair in front of the tail. I try to keep this thinned out, and find the “Steak Knife” type of rake (seen advertised in “TT”) really keeps the hair flatter than any other.

I like the hair on the sides fairly long, to give a good “boxey” look to the dog, but not as long as a Scottie, please! The hair (referred to as an “apron”) on the chest, I also prefer long, especially if the dog has a bit of leg under him, but do keep the hair flat here, and also on the rear, to keep the “boxey” outline from turning into a rectangle. The hair on the rear can most easily be flattened by light knife work, except around the vent, where thinning shears seem more successful. To outline and neaten the tail, always trim from underneath the tail, and do keep the hair short at the tip, usually just past the bone. Scissoring around a male’s testicles can often prevent the annoying habit of hopping in the long grass. I shape my feet for a rounded look, mostly by knife and scissors work from underneath.

Do move your dog before trimming. This breed is very deceptive. The topline can be straight on the table, but we frequently find a dip below the withers and a little mountain in front of the tail, when the dog moves. Only by moving your dog can you really tell how much hair to leave on the leg furnishings, especially around the elbow, and also how flat your shoulders must be.

Illustrated by Denis Shaw
the outside and inside of the ears should be very clean, and a narrow line of hair pulled between the eyebrows to give a good appearance to the stop the hair is short on the top of the skull

The eyebrows must be well above the end of the eye.

a small amount of hair must be kept in front of the ears to maintain a slight "ruff" around the head the hair should be short on the cheeks and very clean under the chin and throat-latch

a slight amount of hair is left around the muzzle to prevent any appearance of snappiness the hair on the chest ("apron") is left long, but kept flat the hair on the shoulder must always blend into the top of the legs, and the hair around the elbows usually must be very short shape feet for a rounded look, mostly by knife and scissor work from underneath

A pinched front, and legs that toe out can appear straighter with more hair left at the elbow and outside of the legs. Leave more hair on the inside of the feet - very short on outside.

Trim furnishings to create a straight look by keeping hair longer on the inside of the leg, should it curve in. Hair around elbows, however, must be considerably shorter.
